This information consists of small files known as cookies and they cannot be used to identify you personally.

These pieces of information are used to improve our services for you through, for example:

- Enabling a service to recognise your device so you don't have to provide the same information several times during one task.
- Recognising that you may already have provided a username and password, so you don't need to do it for every web page requested.
- Measuring how many people are using the services, so they can be made easier to use and there's enough capacity to ensure the speed is at a fast pace.

You can manage these small files yourself and learn more about them by visiting:

Cookies We Use

This is a list of the main cookies we use and what each is used for:

_utma

Cookie name: utma Expires: 2 years

Description: Used by Google Analytics. Each unique browser that visits a page on the site is provided with a unique ID via the utma cookie. In this way, subsequent visits to the website via the same browser are recorded as belonging to the same (unique) visitor. Thus, if a person interacted with the website using different browsers, the Analytics reports would track this activity under two unique visitors. Similarly if the same browser were used by two different visitors, but with a separate computer account for each, the activity would be recorded under two unique visitor IDs. On the other hand, if the browser happens to be used by two different people sharing the same computer account, one unique visitor ID is recorded, even though two unique individuals accessed the site.

utmb & utmc

Cookie name: utmb & utmc Expires: 30 min

Description: Google Analytics uses these two cookies to establish a session. If either of these two cookies is absent, further activity by the user initiates the start of a new session.

utmz

Cookie name: utmz Expires: 6 months

Description: When visitors reach the site via a search engine result, a direct link, or an ad that links to the page, Google Analytics stores the type of referral information in a cookie. The parameters in the cookie value string are parsed and sent in the GIF Request (in the utmcc variable). The expiration date for the cookie is set as 6 months into the future. This cookie gets updated with each subsequent page view to the site; thus it is used to determine visitor navigation within the site.

PHPSESSID

Cookie name: PHPSESSID Expires: End of session

Description: This cookie is a unique identifier for a session. It identifies a user's session e.g. secure area log ins, email subscriptions.
